A Time For A New Beginning

Carlton Adams, our new Dean of the College, adds new energy to Piedmont.

Piedmont College has experienced many new changes over the past year. The enrollment is up by 16% over last year, and this year's Freshman class is the largest in past years. New activities and clubs have also been added to promote new student activity. Many of the faculty and staff including the Dean of the College are new and have brought in ideas and changes while still pursuing the educational mandate Piedmont College was founded on almost 100 years ago.

Bruce Causey is the new Dean of Men and is involved in student activities.

Joey Ashcraft, a freshman, leaves Daniel Hall after his 2nd period class.

Charting Your Own Course

September is the time for making plans; plans for the school year, plans for graduation, and planning when to take the courses needed for graduation. Feelings of frustration, aggravation, and panic mix together to give an overall atmosphere of excitement. There is also a great feeling of accomplishment after registration, knowing that we have been charting our own course.

Eager students crowd into the Student Center only to be forced to wait in lines for classes.

A student discusses his schedule with Dr. Greene, head of the English Department.

Christal Murray discusses her schedule with Mr. Prowse

A group of freshman try to decipher the schedule for fall quarter

Freshman Laura Morgan tries to keep all of her forms in order

Anxious students flock to Mr. Gregory to find out about financial aid.

Looking Into Something New

Only The Beginning

Piedmont has experienced new and better changes, but there is still alot to be done. There are plans still in the works such as remodeling the student center, and building a new library, and moving the Lions Den and Art Department. After all, this is only the beginning.

Mrs. Singer says "Get a job!" Mrs. Singer is helping people find a job during registration.

Allen Guian is waiting to receive his books for his 1st quarter at Piedmont.

On Our Way

The year started off as an adventure for all, especially the Freshman and Seniors. Seniors are on the way to the final part of their education, whereas the Freshman are just starting a long journey. Before we knew it, fall quarter was almost over and we were on our way to the second part of the school year.

Special Services

Nancy Adams, Director of Special Services

Patricia Austin, Special Services

Katherine King, Special Services

Caroline Crittenden, Special Services

Mrs. Nancy Adams has been the head of the Special Service program since July 1, 1987. She is a graduate of Oxford University in Oxford, Georgia. She has 18 years of experience working in education. Her greatest reward is taking part in the growth of a student.

The Special Services program was developed from Upward Bound. This was a summer program later used during the academic year.

Nancy Adams asks Dr. Mellichamp if he will need tutors for his classes

Mrs. Austin works at her desk in the Special Services office

Chaplain's Office

The Religion Department enables students to minor in religion. Along with classes, Chapel gives students the ability to fulfill their potential for religion.

This year has been Rev. Nickles first year at Piedmont College. His main job is the Chaplain of the school, however he also teaches the Religion classes. Rev. Nickle's main goals are to become more knowledgeable of the people here and for people to look deeper into their religious backgrounds.

Education, at Piedmont, starts at Registration

Students in teacher preparation at Piedmont College are required to fulfill certain special requirements for early childhood and middle grade education.

Piedmont College offers approved secondary level teacher preparation programs in the fields of biology, chemistry, English, history, mathematics, and Spanish. For students in secondary education, the major is the field in which they are preparing to teach. The minor consists of the professional education courses required by the Department of Teacher Education and Computer Information Systems 101 and 201.

Smeon says turn to the left, Tom Hacker!

Athletic Department

With Coach Skinner's and Coach Harwood's help, Piedmont College's programs of intercollegiate and intramural athletics are designed to promote student interest in athletics, to foster sound physical development, and to teach good sportsmanship.

Piedmont's Athletic department is a member of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA), District 25.

The Lions Pause

The Lion's Pause is the Piedmont College newspaper. The editor of the paper is Joseph Cukla. The advisor is Dean of Students, Dean Hilton.

In his spare time, Joe likes to shoot a little pool.

Students discuss the latest issue of The Lion's Pause.

Dean Hilton and Joe work on layouts and proofread for the next issue.

The Yonahian

The Yonahian is the College Yearbook, named for Mt. Yonah. In past years, students were lucky to get a yearbook at all. This year with a fresh new staff and advisor, the yearbook was finally on time. Thanks to all the staff, who had the right qualifications: dedication, a love of pain and late nights, and a touch of insanity!

Jean Elizabeth Allen — advisor of the Yonahian Yearbook Staff.

Leah types away the afternoon.

he yearbook staff that lives together, lays together.

See! The Yearbook Staff really does work!

Karen searches frantically for a misplaced picture.

Can you get all those ads to fit on one little ole layout, Tracy?

Oh no! Cara has that 'do it or die' look in her eye again.

O.K. Let's see how many people we can cram into one bathroom cubicle.

Angie, we can tell you love sorting pictures

Cara Prater — Editor

Sometimes working on the yearbook is like being in jail!

Intramurals

For students who do not regularly play college sports, intramurals offers a chance to play the sport of their choice. At Piedmont we offer, intramural basketball, pool, ping-pong, volleyball, and softball.

Some students enjoy the comradery of intramurals.

Some of the guys prepare to start a new game of pool.

Piedmont Cheerleaders

In previous years there were no cheerleaders at Piedmont. However this year seven enthusiastic ladies and an advisor changed that. Cheerleaders form an important adjunct to the Athletic program of Piedmont College. Special uniforms, equipment and attendance at games, both home and away make this activity attractive.

Got caught playing around.

Student Activities

There is more to life at Piedmont College than just studying and classes. This year students found a wide range of activities organized by the new Dean of Students, Dean of Men, and Dean of Women. Through student activities, students had many chances to go skiing, repelling, or just to relax in the remodeled Student Center.

The view from Mt. Yonah is breathtaking.

Don Henry gives a peace sign before taking the plunge down Mt. Yonah.

Mike England smiles as he begins his descent.

Sean Hilton finds some humor in the situation as he rests from a long fun day of spelling.

Scott Hussey demonstrates the art of 'bouldering'.

The guide checks Tom Hacker's connections to make sure they are secure.

"Look Ma! No Hands!"

Chip Duncan, Mike England, And Dean Causey smile before they ski off into the sunset.

Clay Lewis and an unknown stranger stop midway down the slopes to pose for the camera.

Did you find two skis that match, Phillip?

We can tell that Shelene, Tom, and Kim are having a wonderful time as they ski Sugar Mountain.

What's the trouble, guys? Sugar Mountain is too cold for those Georgian cars.

EIGHTY

CLOSING

The 1987-88 Yonahian

This year's annual staff has chosen to dedicate the 1987-1988 yearbook to Dean Carlton Adams. This is Dean Adams' first year at Piedmont College. Along with his new beginnings at this college, he has brought a great many future plans to strengthen Piedmont College as a four year school.

"The new Dean of Piedmont College"

Dean Adams takes a moment from his work to pose for the annual staff.
